Animal Dermatology Clinic Announces the 3rd Annual Dermatology Forum for Veterinarians October 1 through October 4 2015.

March 26, 2015 – Irvine, CA Animal Dermatology Clinic has announced the 3rd Annual Dermatology Forum for Veterinarians. This three day conference will be held at the vacation destination Sandestin® Golf and Beach Resort in Destin, FL. The conference will start with a Welcome Reception on Thursday October 1st and commence on October 2nd with educational sessions focused on dermatology based continuing education for veterinarians. Each session offers practical information that is concentrated on allowing veterinarians to learn valuable clinical information that can then immediately be utilized in practice and enhance their ongoing management of dermatology cases.

This event allows veterinarians a chance to receive valuable continuing education credit, and also an exclusive opportunity to spend a weekend with some of the most clinically experienced dermatologists in the United States. Not only will attendees have the opportunity to participate in the sessions, the conference is developed around several events that allow one on one communication with the over 20 boarded specialists and over 10 future specialists of Animal Dermatology Clinic group.

For two days, vendors will be available to present the latest cutting edge products and drugs available to help manage dermatology cases. The intimate setting allows attendees to receive individualized attention and support from the vendors and sponsors that they might not otherwise receive.

Topics for this year's conference include lecture streams on diagnosing and managing ear disease in the dog, practical approaches in managing atopic and food allergic based skin disease in the dog and the cat as well as the most up-to-date information on novel drugs, diagnostics and therapeutics including new flea control products and how to incorporate these into daily general practice.

"I had an amazing time at the ADC Forum in San Diego. The conference material was very relevant to primary practice, and very useful and educational. There wasn't a single thing about this CE trip I would change. I would definitely consider attending again." says Dr. Eve Ryan of New York, an attendee of last year's conference.

The location of San Destin Resort and Spa was strategically selected to allow attendees to incorporate some fun in the sun while also receiving the most current and relevant information on veterinary dermatology for their practice. This top-rated resort on Florida's beautiful Emerald Coast caters to all members and ages of the family. It offers full service beach services, golf, tennis, water sports, fitness center spa and its own pedestrian Village with shopping, dining and entertainment.
